MANAGING AND LEADING ORGANIZATIONS

Three connected areas we'll explore today

01

MANAGERIAL FUNCTIONS & ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

How work is planned and organized

02

CORPORATE CULTURE

How we work together

03

PEOPLE MANAGEMENT & LEADERSHIP

How people are guided and influenced

FORMAL SYSTEMS → LIVED CULTURE → HUMAN LEADERSHIP

MANAGEMENT IS
THE WORK OF
TURNING GOALS
INTO RESULTS—
THROUGH PEOPLE AND OTHER RESOURCES

PEOPLE MANAGEMENT HIERARCHY

Whatever the level, managers achieve results through others—which requires more than technical expertise.

TOP MANAGEMENT

Sets direction and makes enterprise-wide decisions

MIDDLE MANAGEMENT

Translates strategy and coordinates across teams and functions

FIRST-LINE MANAGEMENT

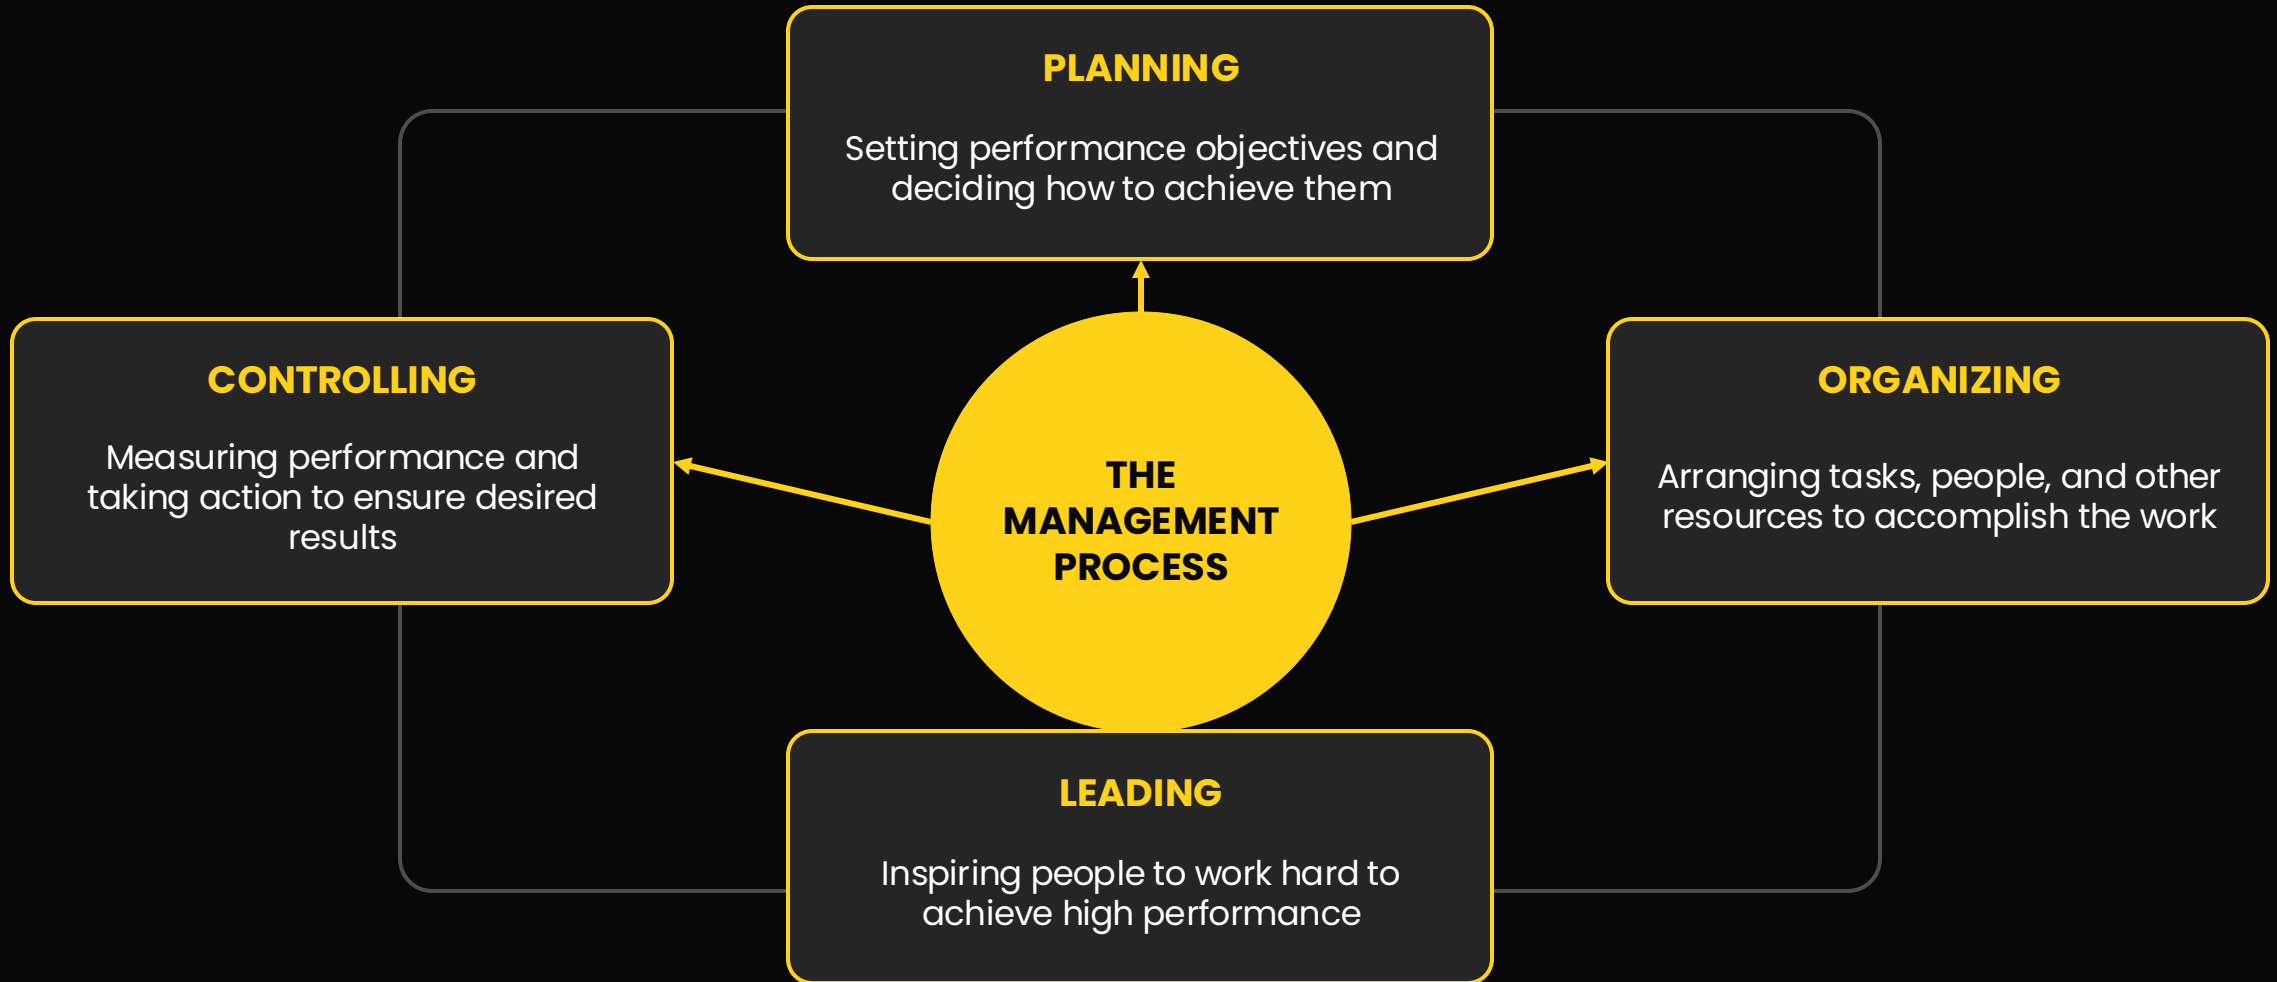

Guides day-to-day work and supports individual contributors

PLANNING AT DIFFERENT MANAGEMENT LEVELS

Each level of management is responsible with planning that corresponds to their level of influence and expertise

Managerial Level	Primary Type of Planning	Examples
Top Management	Strategic	Organization objectives, long term strategic planning
Top Management with contribution from others	Contingency	Risk mitigation & ongoing planning for crisis management
Middle Management	Tactical	Semi-annual and quarterly plans, department policies
First Line/Supervisory	Operational	Daily & weekly tasks and planning, rules and procedures

FOUR KEY MANAGERIAL FUNCTIONS

MINTZBERG'S 10 MANAGERIAL ROLES

INTERPERSONAL

How a manager interacts with other people

Figurehead

Leader

Liaison

INFORMATIONAL

How a manager exchanges and processes information

Monitor

Disseminator

Spokesperson

DECISIONAL

How a manager uses information in decision making

Entrepreneur

Disturbance Handler

Resource Allocator

Negotiator

MANAGERS ARE DECISION MAKERS

You manage a campus coffee shop.

How would you think about these decisions?

A bestselling item is running low

You need more coffee beans. You have an established supplier and ordering process

A second campus offers you space

Should you open another location? Demand is uncertain, rent is expensive, and your team is already stretched.

TWO TYPES OF MANAGERIAL DECISIONS

PROGRAMMED

Involves simple, common, and frequently-occurring problems that already have solutions

Reordering coffee beans

A recurring problem addressed through an established rule or procedure.

NONPROGRAMMED

Involves a complex and unique problem or opportunity with important results for the organization

Opening another location

A new or unusual problem requiring judgment and a tailored response.

Three connected areas we'll explore today

FORMAL SYSTEMS → LIVED CULTURE → HUMAN LEADERSHIP

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE IS THE LIVING BLUEPRINT OF AN ORGANIZATION

It defines how work is divided,
who has authority, how teams coordinate and where decisions get made

WHAT DETERMINES THE RIGHT STRUCTURE?

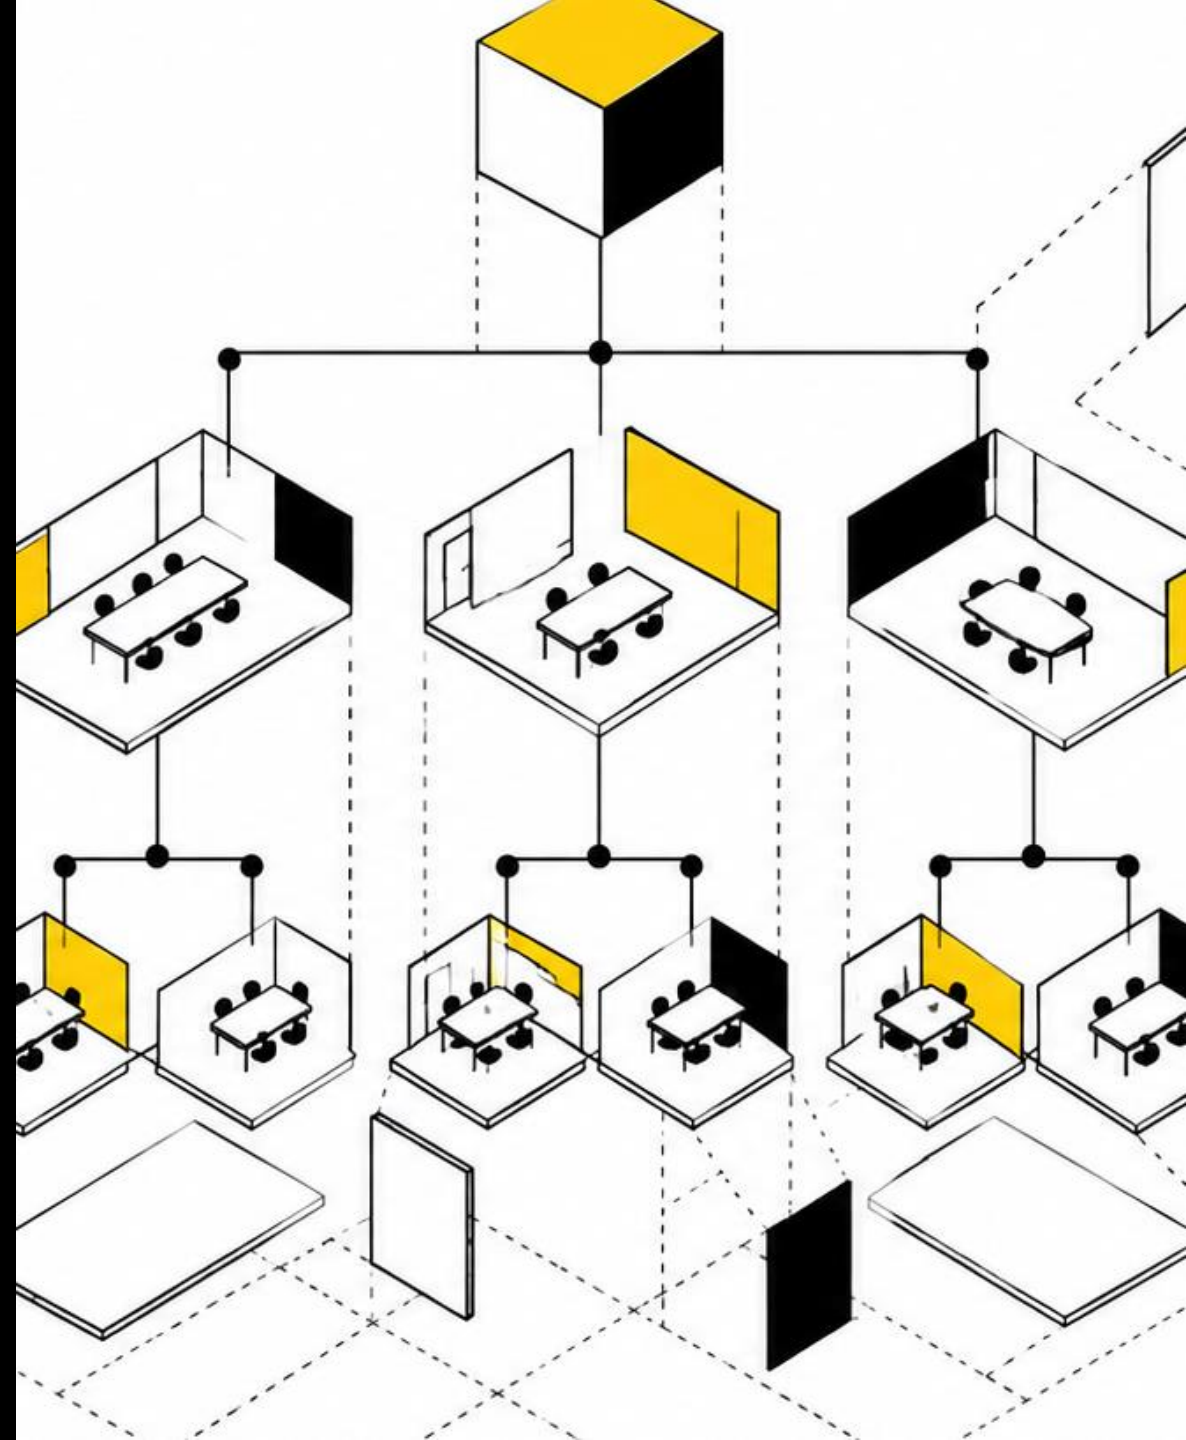

There is no single “best” structure. Every design creates trade-offs.

Structure follows strategy. It should support what the organization is trying to accomplish.

Context matters. Size, industry, geography, regulation and pace of change all influence the design.

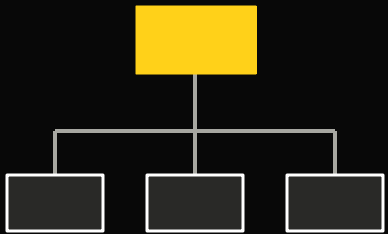

Structures evolve. Organizations reorganize as their strategy, markets and complexity change.

Most organizations are hybrids. One pattern may dominate, but elements are often combined.

THERE ARE DIFFERENT TYPES OF ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURES

The Primary Structures organize the work. Design choices shape how each pattern operates.

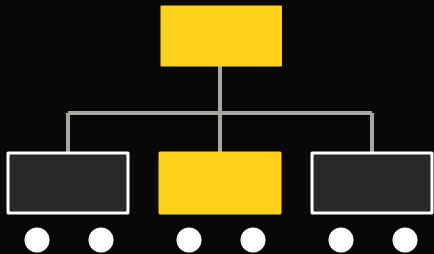

FUNCTIONAL

GROUPED BY EXPERTISE

People with similar expertise sit together.

Best for specialization and consistency.

EXAMPLE: APPLE

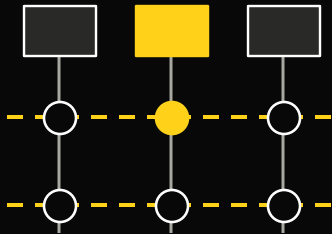

DIVISIONAL

GROUPED BY MARKET

Units focus on a product, region or customer group.

Best for large, diversified organizations.

EXAMPLE: DISNEY

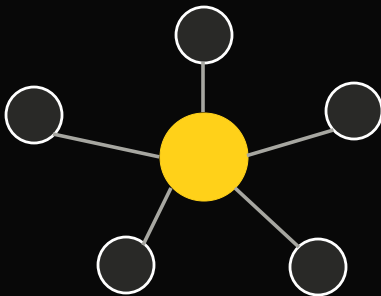

MATRIX

GROUPED TWO WAYS

Functions work across brands, projects or regions.

Best for sharing expertise across complex work.

EXAMPLE: KRAFT HEINZ

NETWORK

CONNECTED THROUGH PARTNERS

A core organization coordinates internal and external partners.

Best for flexibility and access to partners.

EXAMPLE: NIKE

DESIGN CHOICES INFLUENCE HOW THAT STRUCTURE OPERATES

FLAT

Fewer management layers

DECENTRALIZED

Decisions sit closer to the work

AGILE

Teams adapt through short work cycles

TAKING A CLOSER LOOK: MATRIX STRUCTURE

Employees have a functional leader and a product, brand, region or project leader.

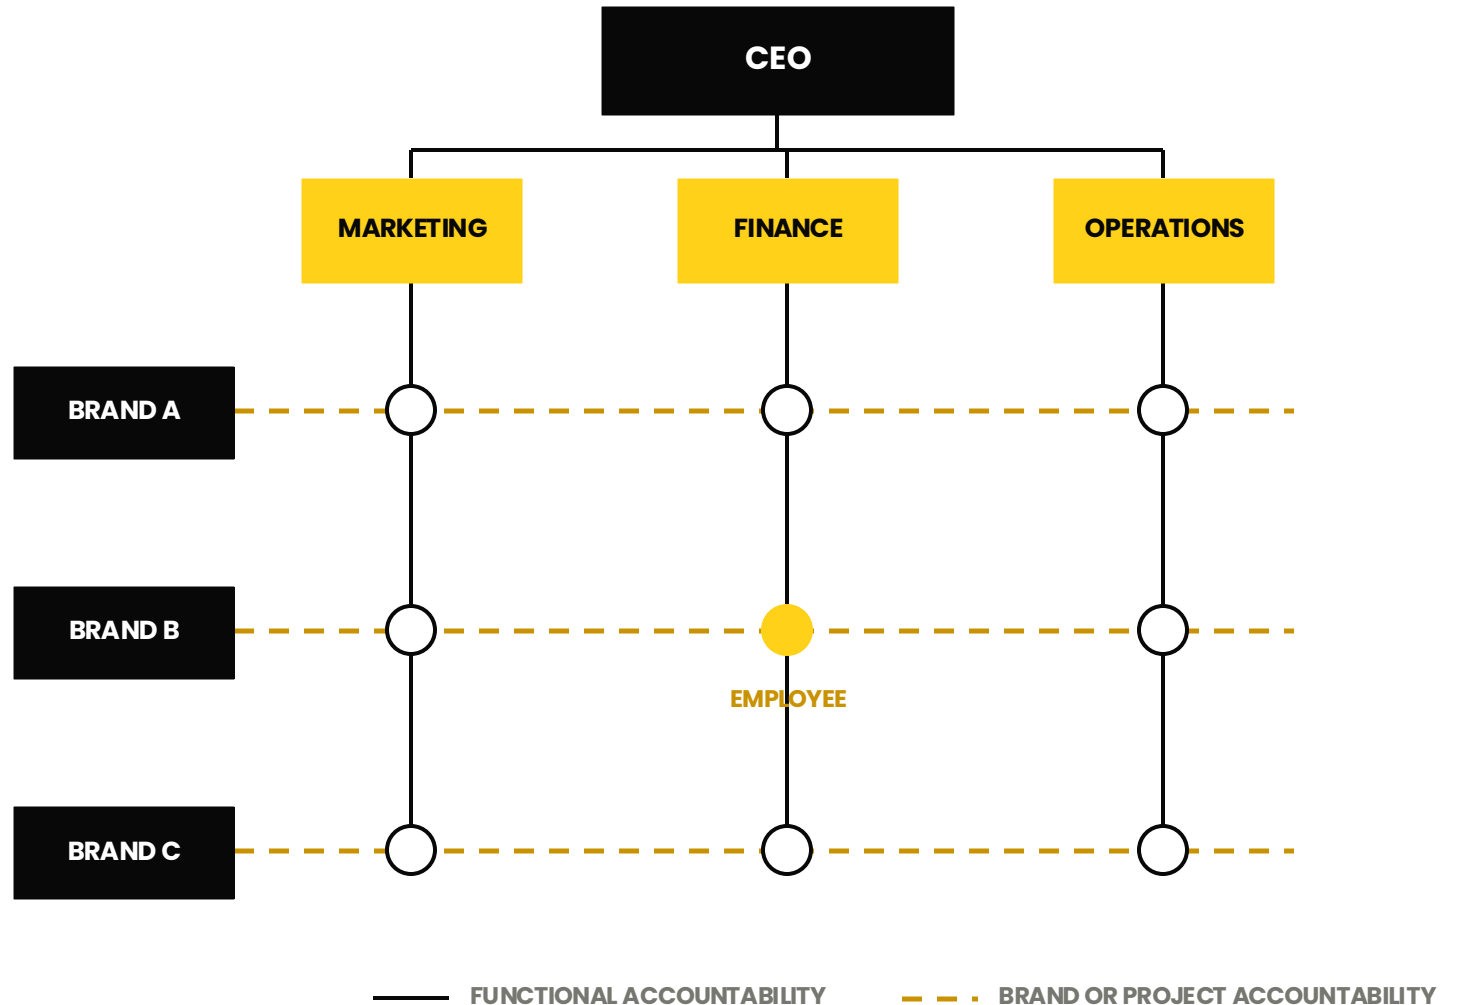

WHY ORGANIZATIONS USE IT

Specialists can work across multiple businesses without duplicating every function.

THE TRADE-OFF

Priorities can conflict when roles and decision rights are unclear.

TWO LINES OF COMMAND, ONE EMPLOYEE

CASE STUDY: KRAFT FOODS

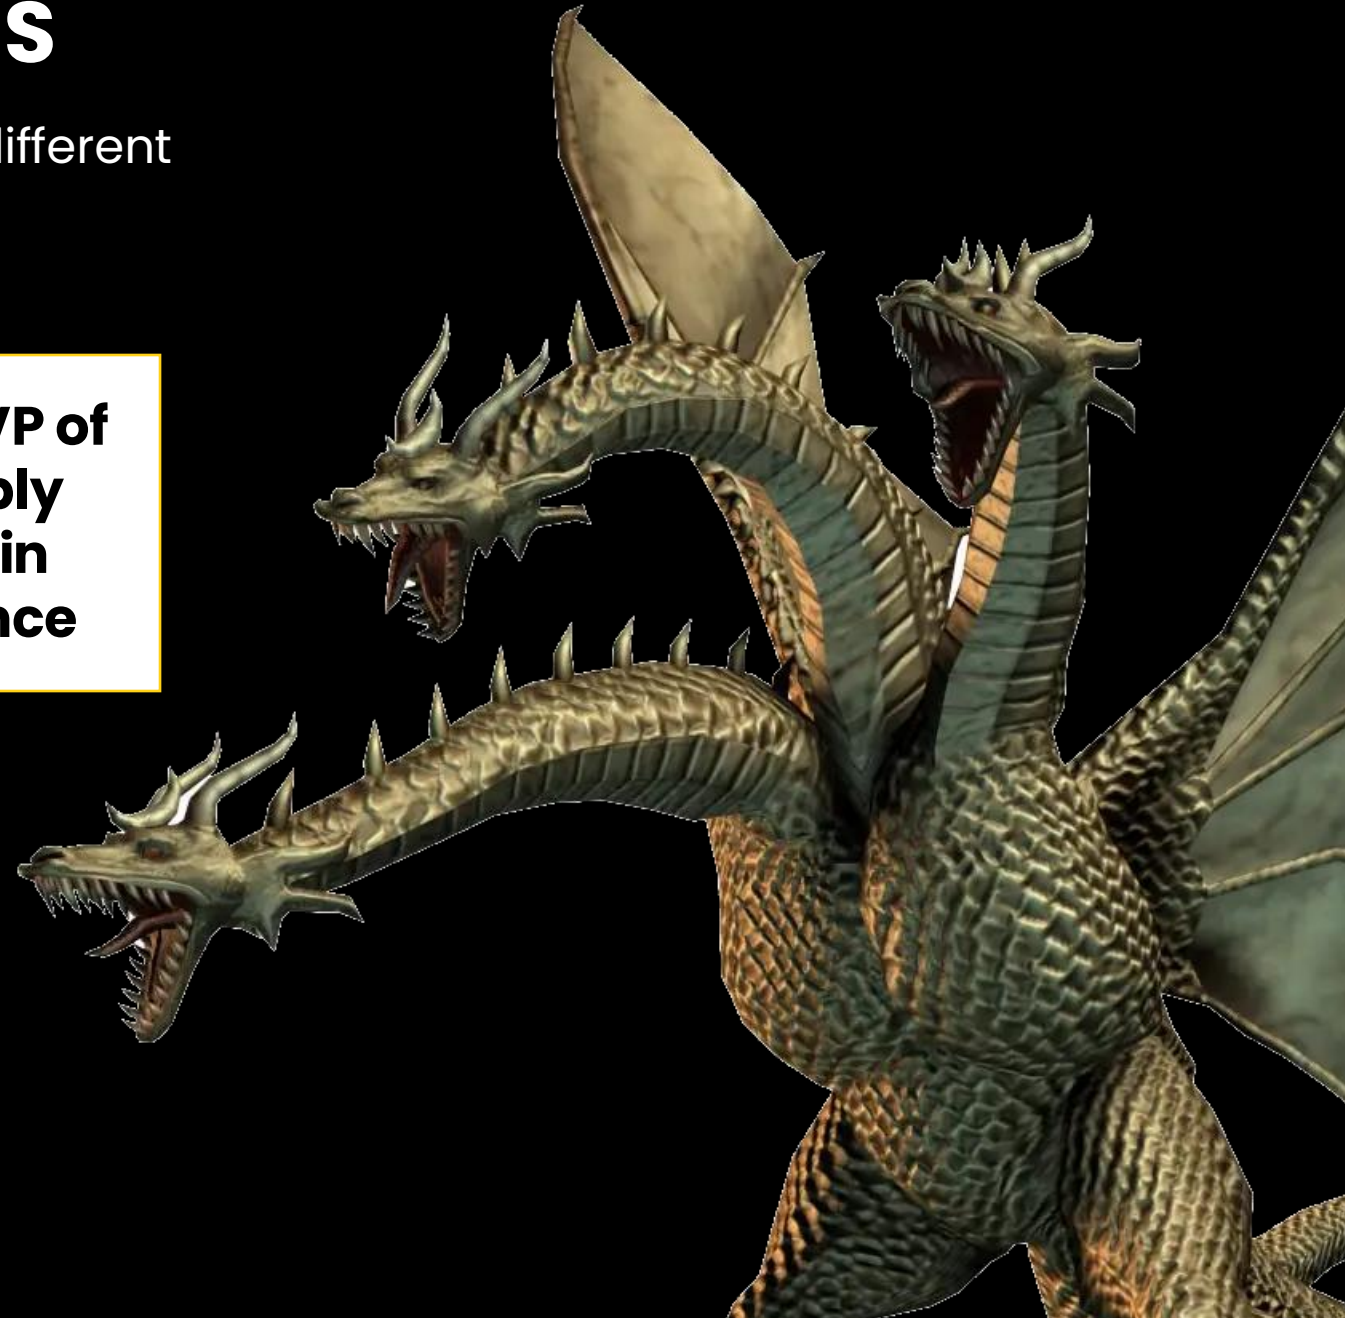

How to keep 3 “bosses” happy who each have different business deliverables & incentives?

CORPORATE CULTURE

Three connected areas we'll explore today

FORMAL SYSTEMS → LIVED CULTURE → HUMAN LEADERSHIP

CULTURE EATS STRATEGY FOR BREAKFAST

Peter DRUCKER

STRUCTURE

TELLS YOU HOW
WORK IS SUPPOSED TO HAPPEN.

THE FORMAL ORGANIZATION

CULTURE

WORK ACTUALLY HAPPENS.

And no—it isn't the office ping-pong table.

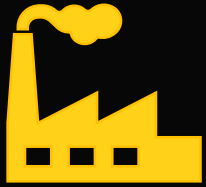

THE LIVED ORGANIZATION

WHAT IS CORPORATE CULTURE?

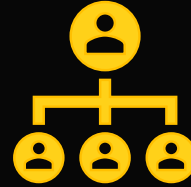

Corporate culture is the invisible current running through the organization

The shared assumptions, values and norms that shape how people behave, make decisions and work together. It is shaped by

INDUSTRY & ENVIRONMENT

The pace, risks, rules and expectations surrounding the organization.

LEADERSHIP

What leaders model, prioritize, reward—and tolerate.

PEOPLE & PRACTICES

Who gets hired and promoted, plus the stories, symbols, rituals and everyday behaviours that are reinforced.

WHY IT MATTERS

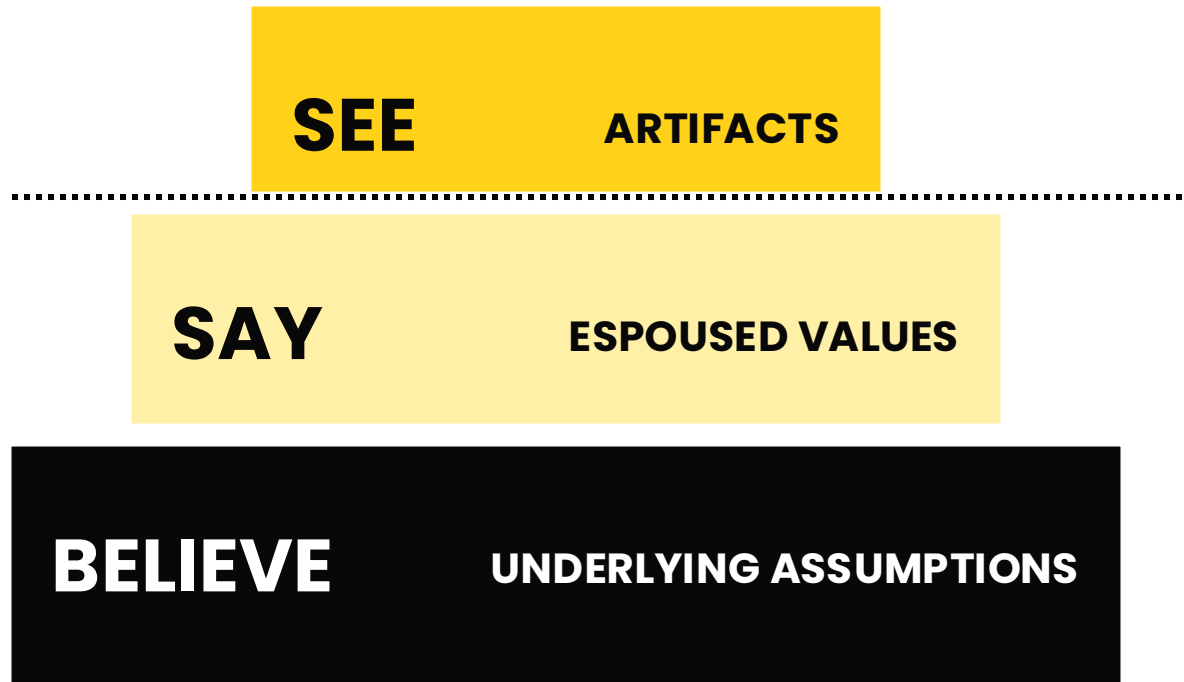

Culture guides behaviour—especially in spaces where no formal policy & process are telling people what to do.

elRellano.com

CULTURE IS DEEPER THAN WHAT YOU CAN SEE

EDGAR SCHEIN'S THREE LEVELS OF ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE

DEEPER = LESS VISIBLE + MORE INFLUENTIAL

ARTIFACTS

What you see and hear

Spaces, symbols, rituals and behaviours. Easy to spot; hard to interpret without context.

ESPOUSED VALUES

What the organization says matters

Its stated mission, goals, values, philosophies and policies.

UNDERLYING ASSUMPTIONS

What people really believe

Taken-for-granted beliefs and unspoken rules that actually drive everyday decisions and behaviour.

THE VISIBLE CLUES MATTER—but the deepest layer usually explains how things really work.

CULTURE = RESULTS: GOOGLE NEWS AND ADSENSE WERE PROTOTYPED IN "20% TIME" — TURNING EMPLOYEE EXPERIMENTS INTO MAJOR PRODUCTS.

FORD: ONE RESPONSE MADE THE TRUTH SAFER TO TELL.

THE OLD SIGNAL

Bad news was dangerous. Leaders protected their turf—and every status chart stayed green.

THE LEADERSHIP SIGNAL

At a weekly BPR, Mark Fields finally showed red. Mulally applauded—and asked, “Who can help?”

THE NEW NORMAL

Surface problems early. Ask for help. Solve them together around one shared plan.

“ONE FORD” WAS THE STRATEGY.
CULTURE MADE IT POSSIBLE TO ACT AS ONE TEAM.

PEOPLE MANAGEMENT & LEADERSHIP

Three connected areas we'll explore today

FORMAL SYSTEMS → LIVED CULTURE → HUMAN LEADERSHIP

MANAGEMENT IS DOING THINGS RIGHT;
LEADERSHIP IS DOING THE RIGHT THINGS.

--Peter Drucker

NOT ALL MANAGERS ARE GOOD LEADERS AND NOT ALL LEADERS ARE NECESSARILY MANAGERS

Management helps an existing system run reliably; leadership mobilizes people toward a direction or better future

KATZ'S ESSENTIAL MANAGERIAL SKILLS

TECHNICAL SKILLS

KNOW THE WORK

Use the methods, tools, processes and specialized knowledge required in a particular area.

Examples: financial analysis, coding, production methods or marketing platforms

HUMAN SKILLS

WORK THROUGH PEOPLE

Communicate, motivate, coach and collaborate effectively with individuals and teams.

Examples: feedback, conflict resolution, delegation and team development

CONCEPTUAL SKILLS

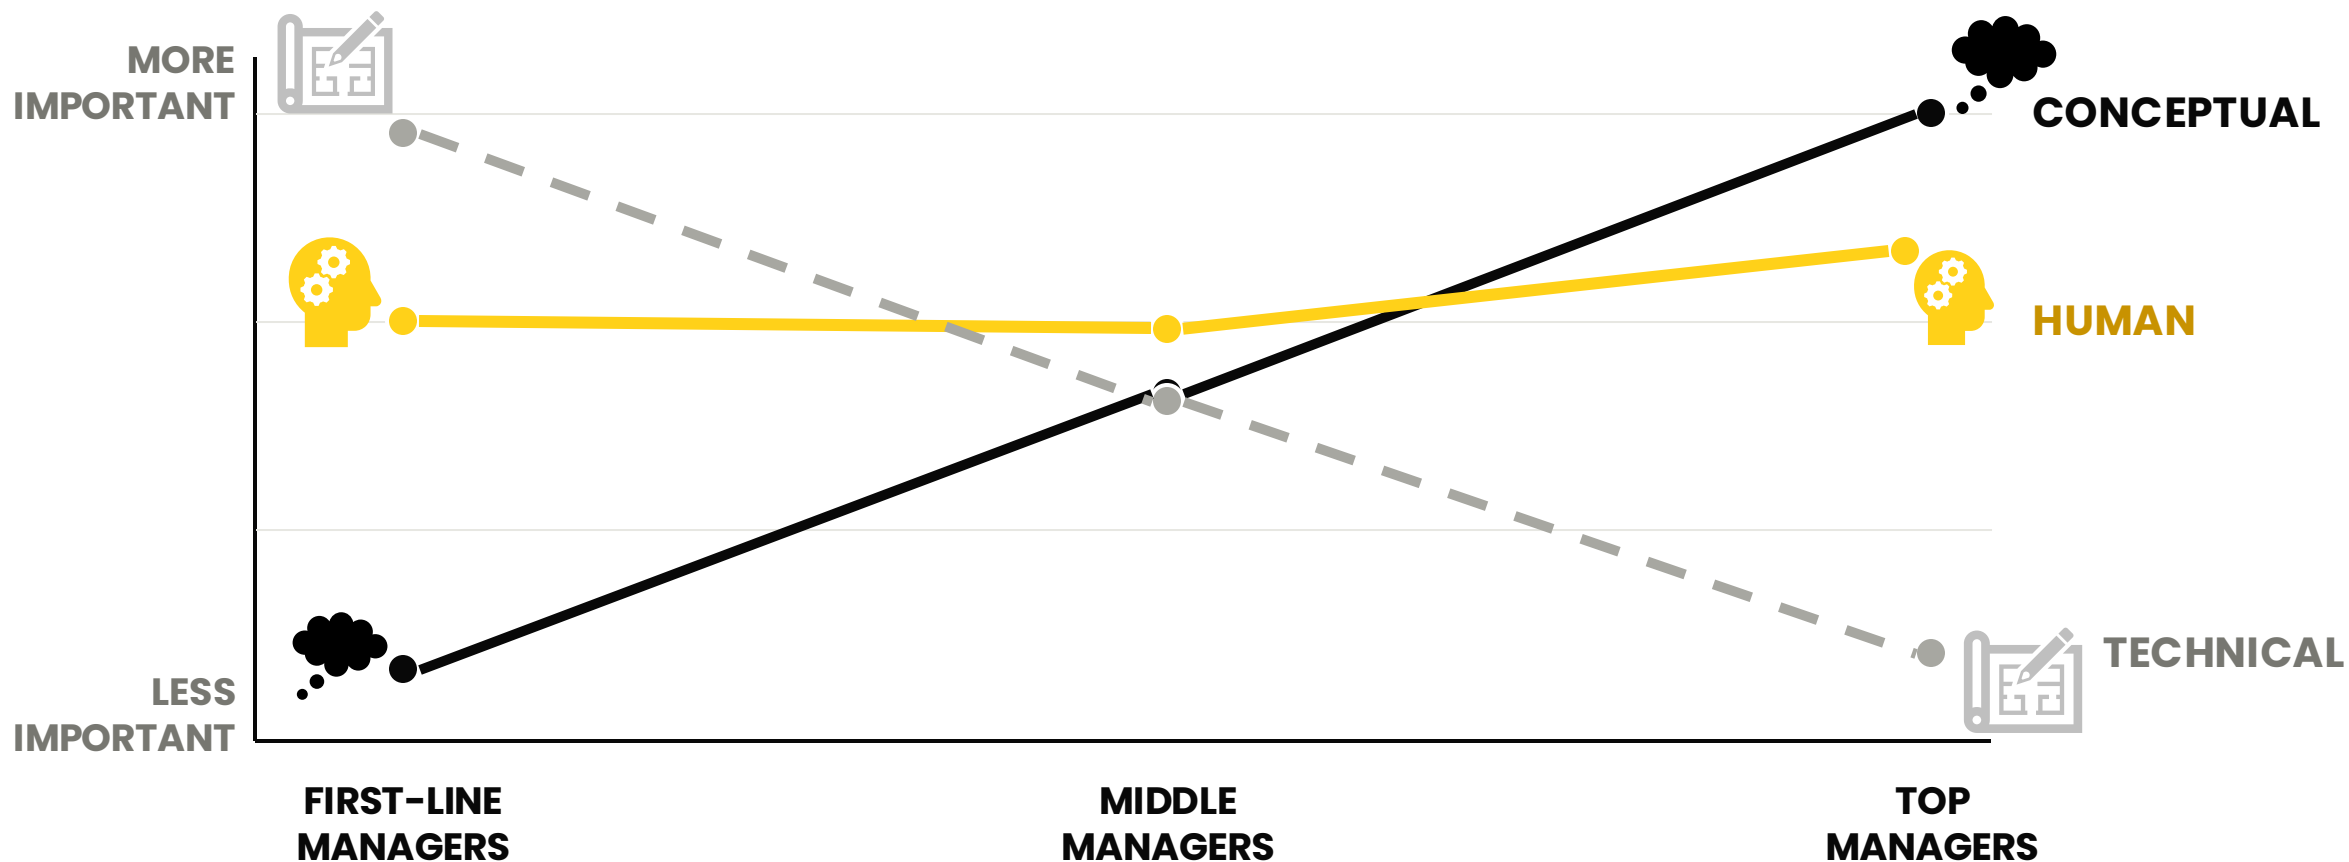

SEE THE WHOLE

Understand how the organization's parts connect—and anticipate broader consequences.

Examples: strategic planning & vision, elevated and integrative problem-solving

THE SKILL MIX SHIFTS AS RESPONSIBILITY GROWS

THE HIGHER YOU GO, THE LESS SUCCESS DEPENDS ON PERSONALLY DOING THE WORK

DELEGATION MULTIPLIES A MANAGER'S IMPACT

Delegating is not 'passing off work', it's essential and beneficial to the team

- Sets expectations, direction and necessary authority for completing tasks
- Builds trust, empowerment and a sense of ownership and accountability
- Allows for greater capacity, results and expands capability of team
- Accelerates growth and goal achievement for leader and employee

people to reach goals

Empathy
Self-awareness
Objectivity in dealing with

LEADERSHIP STYLES

Helping those around you know what you expect from you, understand how you work best,
and reduce friction

7 MOST COMMON LEADERSHIP STYLES

Style	One-liner	Best used in	Potential Watch outs
Autocratic	"I decide"	Speed or crisis situations	Low engagement
Democratic	"We decide"	You need buy-in or input	Slower decisions
Transformational	"Let's change the future"	Driving vision or change	Can miss details
Transactional	"Do this → get that"	Clear goals, performance focus	Limits innovation
Servant	"I support you"	Building trust, developing teams	Blurred boundaries
Laissez-faire	"You own it"	Skilled, self-directed teams	Lack of direction
Coaching	"Let me grow you"	Developing individuals	Time intensive

WHAT'S YOUR 'GO-TO' LEADERSHIP STYLE?

HOW DO YOU RESPOND?

Here's the Scenario

Your team is consistently meeting reporting deadlines, but the process is manual and inefficient.

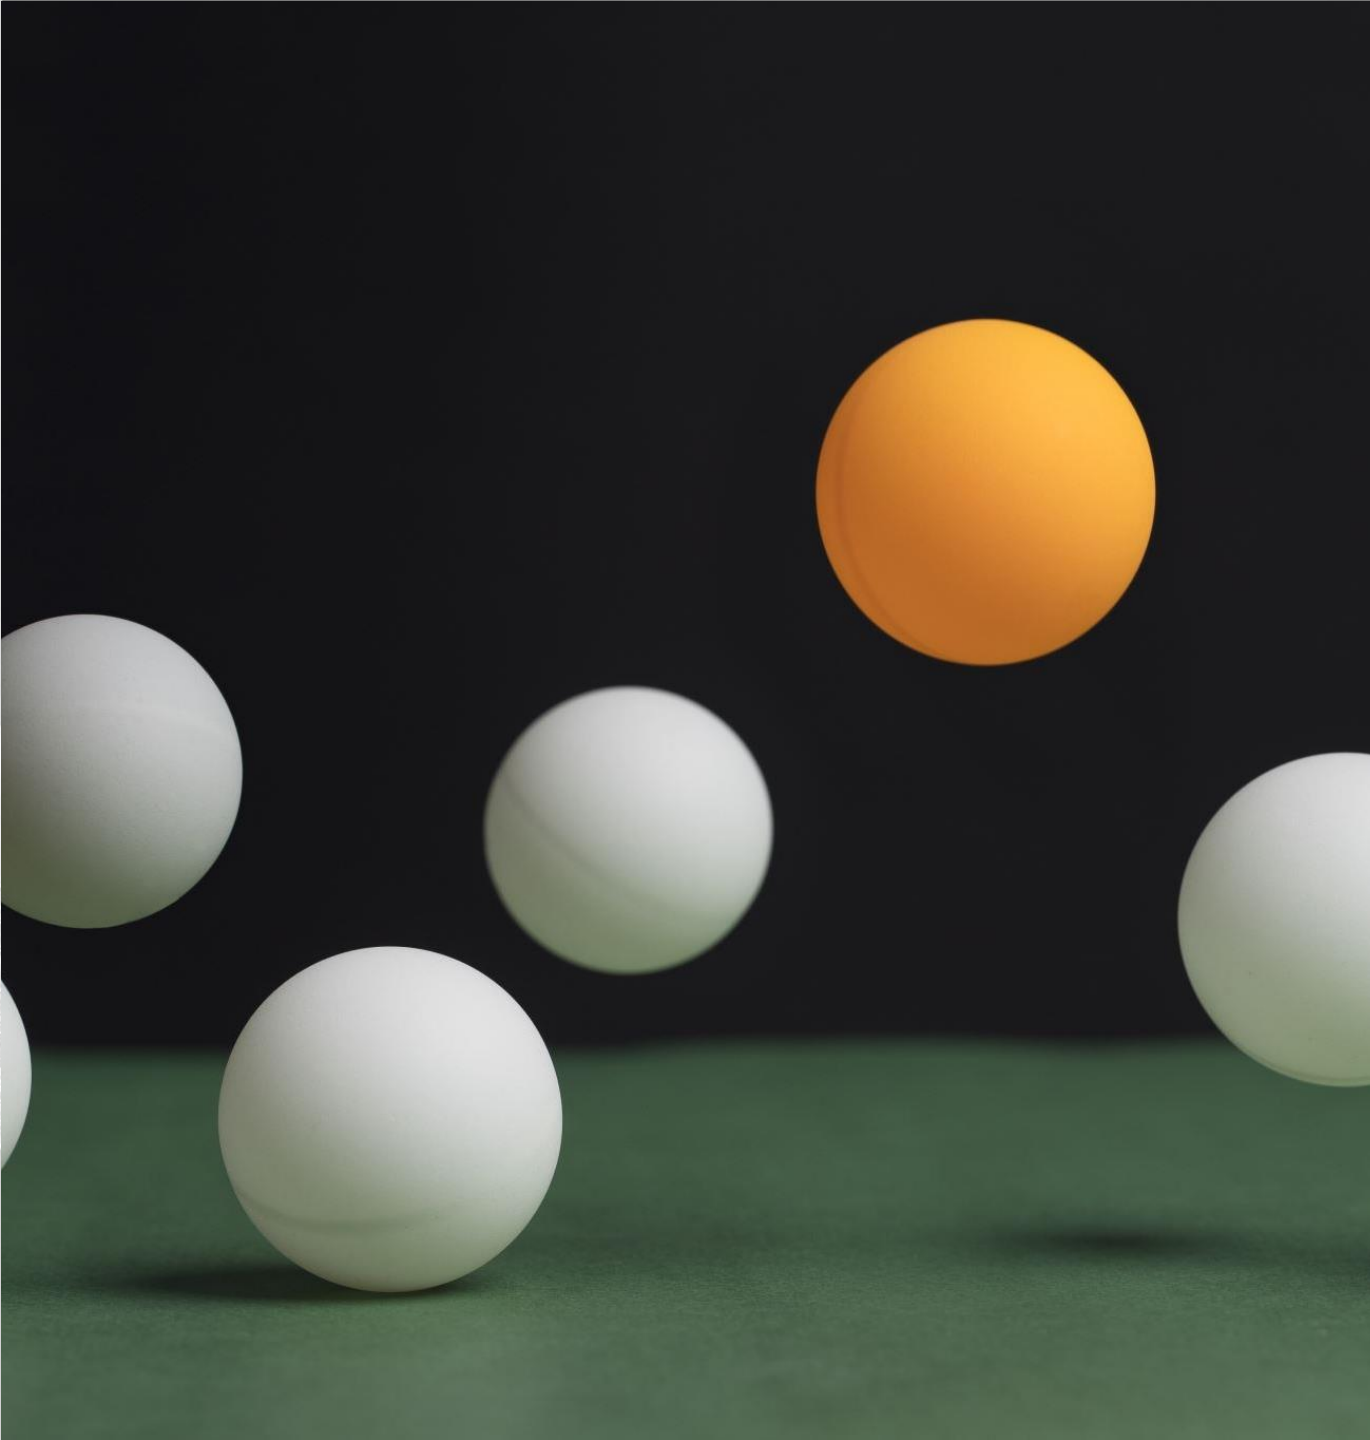

A few team members want to redesign it; others prefer to stick with what works.

You have limited capacity to take on extra work.

THIS IS YOUR DEFAULT MODE

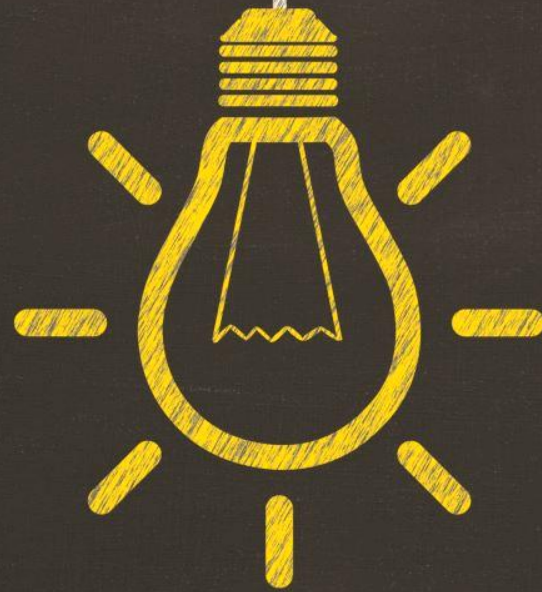

Your Response	Leadership Style
"Let's clarify priorities—what needs to get done now vs. improve later?"	Transactional
"Talk me through your thinking—I'll help you work toward a solution."	Coaching
"Let's rethink how could we redesign the process for the long term?"	Transformational
"Let's get everyone's input—what do you think we should do?"	Democratic
"You've all got good instincts—why don't you take a proposal and run with it?"	Laissez-faire (Delegative)
"Here is the approach we'll take and why."	Autocratic
"What barriers are you facing that I can help remove?"	Servant

REMEMBER

- There is no 'best' way to be a leader
- Developing a signature style takes time
- Some styles may overlap
- It should feel authentic to who you are
- We all have a default style—but strong leaders learn when to flex away from it
